Stainless steel cable glands

THE RIGHT CHOICE FOR FOOD & BEVERAGE INDUSTRY

SKINTOP® HYGIENIC and SKINTOP® INOX
 – stainless steel glands for hygienically critical areas

Resistant, robust, reliable – those are SKINTOP® HYGIENIC and SKINTOP® INOX. The smooth surface enables hygienically ideal cleansing and prevents the accumulation of fluids or foodstuff remains as well as the formation of micro organisms. Both cable glands are approved to IP68/IP69 protection codes. They have recently received both UL and NSF approval, which is important to the North American market.

SKINTOP® INOX in acid proof stainless steel is, thanks to its rounded design and smooth surface, an optimal solution for most of the applications in the food and beverage industry. But this gland is also useful for various outdoor applications since it is resistant to salts and chemicals.

SKINTOP® INOX is available in the sizes M 12 x 1.5 to M 50 x 1.5, and is suitable for temperatures between -40°C to +100°C.

SKINTOP® HYGIENIC was developed by LAPP especially for the food and beverage industry. The ECOLAB® approved SKINTOP® HYGIENIC fulfils the stringent EHEDG standards for Hygienic Design and is further approved for direct contact with foodstuff in production facilities. That means SKINTOP® HYGIENIC meets the highest hygienic standards.

SKINTOP® HYGIENIC features high chemical resistance against aggressive, acidic and alkaline industrial cleaners as well as oil, UV light and ozone.
